THE SCHERNATORIAL CONTEST. whether John C. Brown can be elected.

Nobody doubts that he will be. But the question is whether or not he shall have less than forty thousand majority. We have no fears as to this unjointy if natid at least balf a vote.

NEWS OF THE BAY.

Congress to inject into the general appropriations act a provision extending the election act of February 25, 1871, to every voting precinct in the United States, the Democratic members in the House and Senate resisted desperately, and, though unsuccessful in warding off the entire wrong, deprived it of much of its venom by insisting on and carrying three amendments: First, that the Supervisor must be a qualified voter of the district in which he was appointed to, overwhelming against all who apologize ular nominess, and make the majority overwhelming against all who spologize for it, directly or indirectly, or aid in its recognition, and this desire will be accomplished. Elect Brown, and Cheatham, and Haynes, all the nominess of the party in Tennessee, and Radicalism will be destroyed beyond regeneration and resurrection. Boil up, then, an everwhelming majority. Then fall into line. Bring out all the forces, and let the shout of victory on the fifth day of 1815. the shout of victory on the fifth day of 1815.

The St. Louis Democrat prints this beautiful little story: "There is accovered bridge at Peoria five hundred feet above high-water mark. A drover recently attempted to drive a thousand sheep across it. When about half-way over the bell-weather noticed an open window, and, recognizing his destiny, made county to build railways, one to Kansus City, and another to Shreveport. Whatever sacrifice may be demanded, these ends must be accomplished. If St. Louis persist in perfecting a railway loved, imitating the gesture and remark loved in the main boilers to handle for the next sheep and the next for loved, imitating the gesture and remark loved. St. Louis persist in perfecting a railway system fatal to Memphis, on both sides of the leader. For hours it rained sheep freight generally precludes this.
